A Guide To Overnight Damaged Passport Services For U S Residents

Why would you ever need the help of a expedited damaged passport service? Well say, as a US citizen, you havent been abroad for over 5 years, but youre taking a vacation to Europe - and are in fact, leaving tomorrow! Youre SURE youve covered everything - youre all packed, you have your itinerary and your travelers checks - you can even feel a slight sting from the shots you had two days ago. Most importantly, you have a valid passport - in fact, you know exactly which brown shoe box you put it in five years earlier.

Will you discover that your name has become smeared because of some weird liquid that has gotten in underneath the plastic coating? But thats not such a big deal, right? Its not like you cant make out what it says, if you look really close - so, no big deal. But you may very well find out that it is a big deal.

You probably already know that in times like these, every country in the world has gotten knit picky as far as who they let across their borders, based on the documentation a person presents when they attempt to enter. And, this is especially true with passports. So, if you find out at the last minute that your passport is in less than stellar condition, what happens next?

Well, if you happen to get held up at the border due to a suspect passport, you will then need the services of a next day USA passport service, immediately, so you can get a replacement and be on your way.

These services are available online and are easily accessible. However, you will need to provide them with certain information including a written statement as to how your passport got damaged, proof of your US citizenship, proof of identity - such as a drivers license and social security card - passport photos, and your reasons for traveling. You will also have to fill out a new passport application form, of course.

In order to get this service, you will need a valid credit card - and be prepared to pay up to several hundred dollars for the service, depending upon the urgency of your situation. Once, youve completed the sales portion, you will get your very own case worker to assist you through the rest of the process, so you can get your replacement and be on your way as quickly as possible.

To err on the side of caution for the future, you might want to take certain steps to secure the safety of your important travel documents before you actually travel. One way to protect them is to wrap them in clean cloth, then tuck them away in a brand new baggy. And, if you opt to place them in a shoebox instead of a strongbox, make sure its completely empty and isnt vulnerable to any liquids that could seep into it later. And, of course, always keep it out of the reach of small children.

So, hopefully after reading this, youve become a bit more educated on how things like water seepage, wine spills, and even the innocent mark of a pen can render a once valid passport invalid - and keep you south of whatever border it is youre trying to cross. But if, despite your best efforts, something like this happens anyway, you can rest assured that there are priority damaged passport services available to help you out of your bind, and into the country youre planning to visit.
