JFK New York From Manchester Airport With American Airlines

The US company American Airlines has now started a new service to JFK, New York, from Manchester Airport. The service first ran on May 16th and will continue until September 30th, 2010.

Operating up to seven times per week, the service offers the ideal solution for a week-long break in the US, with one of the hottest destinations in the country. Whereas other parts of America may offer more in the way of family holidays, beaches and amusement parks, New York is the perfect destination for shopping, night life and socialising. It's not called the City that never sleeps for no reason!

If you do want to take advantage of American Airlines summer service to New York, you'll find flights will around £450 for a flight with a change, or around £530-550 for non-stop flights (prices based on economy tickets). You should remember however that you'll probably also need to consider the cost of travel insurance and secure parking at the airport, although the Manchester airport parking facilities are very good and not prohibitively expensive.

If you're looking to save money on flights and extras, try booking last minute deals for the flights, as this can often save you money on the ticket costs. As far as airport parking goes, spend some time searching online. Search for the specific airport you're looking for and have a look at the first few links. You should find you come across lots of companies offering to supply you with airport parking, which should allow you to note down and compare all the quote and save yourself some money.

You should also be careful with your currency; don't just change your pounds or dollars at the airport, as so many people do. Keep hold of your pounds or dollars and properly shop around, you're almost guaranteed to find a better deal in an alternative place if you're willing to spend the time having a look around. The Post Office often offer no commission on foreign currency exchange, although sometimes they will want you to have an account with them before allowing you to exchange your currency.
