What follows are five ideas for tourist activities during your stay in NYC. All of these activities are included as a part of the time and money saving New York Pass.

1. Visit the Natural History Museum. I think this is my favorite museum in NYC. The art museums are great too, don't get me wrong. But I find the Natural History Museum to be extremely interesting. I also think it's the best museum to take your kids to. They will be blown away by seeing the huge dinosaur skeletons.
2. Take a trip on the Circle Line River Cruise. Get on a boat and float around Manhattan!
3. Take a Food on Foot Tour. There are many great things about New York but in my opinion the very best thing is obviously the food! If you've never really eaten good food before (and sadly this is true for many Americans) then you are in for a real treat. And no; Olive Garden is not good food.
4. Visit Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum. Seeing these impressively lifelike wax statues up close is a real hoot. It's fun to take pictures with celebrities from the past and present. You don't even have to ask them permission.
5. Take the On Location Tour. There are many spots in Manhattan that are famous for being on television or in the movies. On this tour you get to see some of them. The tour includes spots featured in Sex and the City, Gossip Girl, and The Sopranos.

No matter what you decide to do while you are in NYC, you should make your hotel reservations at the NewYorkHotelDeals.US site because it always finds you the absolute lowest room rate available on the internet.

The site functions by searching over 30 other hotel sites simultaneously for the lowest price. Clearly this is very helpful as far as saving you the time you would waste searching through those sites yourself and it's also a big cash saver since it makes sure that you find the lowest possible price anywhere on the internet.

The Hotel Deals Finder website performs the same function except that it searches for the lowest priced hotel rooms in cities worldwide.
