There Are So Many Possibilities With A Trip To Mainland Europe

Those of us in the UK often forget how lucky we actually are living here. There are endless opportunities for us when it comes to travel especially with the whole of main Europe right on our doorstep. We can now get from part of the UK to France in less than an hour; how amazing is that. There are so many places that you can visit once you get to the mainland and you can choose to go skiing in the snowy north or sunbathing in the sunny Mediterranean south; the choice is yours. You would never get bored if you chose to travel around Europe for the rest of your life.

And we don't even need visas to get to all these other countries in the mainland because the UK is a part of the EU. We can just turn up and as long as we can present a passport we are free to travel. It is possible for us to stay in these countries for as long as we like and we can even move there permanently if the mood takes us. There are many of us who actually feel that we should have been born in sunnier climes and want to head there on a permanent basis. Looking around Europe you will be bound to find a place which will suit your own individual temperament.

A lot of people have had to tighten their belts over the past few years. But with such easy access to mainland Europe it is possible to get to these places for a reasonable sum. And if you get fed up with the miserable weather here in the UK, you know that you can go somewhere sunny without having to pay out an absolute fortune to get there. There are so many places within easy reach and it only takes a trip on a boat or in the Channel Tunnel for us to get there; you really wouldn't need anything more than Europe has to offer.

Today it has become a trend for more people to drive in their car over to their foreign holiday destination. Many people drive down and catch the dover to Calais ferry. Doing this takes away the worry of thinking about channel tunnel prices. What better way than heading over and doing some Calais shopping?
